Caveat

- Nothing in these slides or any accompanying presentation is to be considered tax, legal, investment or other professional advice. The information is provided merely for educational purposes, and no action should be taken without consulting professional tax, estate, legal, financial, investment, insurance and other advisers.

What is Estate Tax Planning?

- Estate planning often focused on minimizing estate taxes, which were viewed as potentially confiscating 50% + of what wealth you accumulated. For most taxpayers this is no longer the case (so long as tax law does not change again).
- For many consumers this translated into bypass trusts, marital trusts and insurance trusts. Even if these steps still make sense, the focus of planning and application of those techniques has changed.
- Now only about 3,000 decedents a year will pay estate tax:
  - $11+ million inflation-adjusted exemption (2019 – an individual can give $11.4 million and a couple can bequeath $22,800,000 without federal estate tax).
  - Caution: Democratic Presidential hopefuls have proposed harsh changes that could reduce the gift exemption to $1 million and the estate tax exemption to $3.5 million ($2.5 million if you use the entire $1 million gift exemption). So all of this may change and many people may again need to address planning.
  - A surviving spouse can capture (“port”) the gift/estate exemption (but not the GST exemption) of the deceased spouse without a bypass trust.
- Wealthier taxpayers might use many different planning techniques to reduce possible estate taxes, but that is beyond the scope of this presentation.

What is Estate and Financial Planning?

- Providing peace of mind for you and your loved ones on a broad range of planning issues.
- Addressing human planning issues: religious considerations, health challenges, charitable giving, and much more.
- Financial planning, longevity planning and other financial decisions should lead most estate planning decisions. This includes investment planning, budgeting, and an array of different steps to protect you and your loved ones holistically.
- Protection from lawsuits, creditors, divorce, identity theft, and other risks.
- Insurance of varying types to meet many planning needs.
- An integrated plan that coordinates your investment, retirement, insurance, emergency and disability planning, and more while you are alive, if you are disabled, when or if you are retired, and eventually for your heirs, charities and others you wish to benefit.
- Maximizing tax basis (the amount that determines capital gain when an asset sells (called basis step-up)) for tax purposes.
- Dealing with incapacity, especially if you are a business owner.
- Estate planning will be different for each person and family. You have to define what “estate planning” means to you so that YOUR goals will be met.

Overview of Your Estate Planning – A Document Perspective

Powers of Attorney

- Springing vs. not.
- General vs. Special.
- Why standard forms aren't sufficient.
- Special provisions.

Living Wills

- What they are and why they are important.
- Address specific health and religious issues.

HIPAA Releases

Health Proxies

- Special considerations in selecting agent.

POLST

Insurance Trusts

- Multi-purpose ILIT or MILIT.

Wills and Revocable Living Trusts

- New Bypass trusts.
- Boilerplate forms rarely address nuances needed.
- What can and should you have.

How Financial and Estate Non-Tax Planning Have Changed

- Technology has "improved"
  - You can get a wealth of information and even legal documents on line, but how can you get protection that is worthwhile (and not what is not)? As you will learn, a document is only a part of what you will need.
- More options
  - There are many different types of financial advisers, trust companies and investment options.
  - These can be integrated with your estate planning and create safer and better results.
- Demographic changes
  - The aging population requires a focus on later life (longevity) planning to protect people as they age from elder financial abuse, identity theft, challenges of chronic disease and more.
  - 20% of boomers support an elderly parent, many support adult children. How does this impact your planning?
- Diversity expanding
  - Addressing different financial, religious and other considerations in planning and documents.

Income Tax Planning is Part of Financial and Estate Tax Planning

- The income tax is the new estate tax.
  - Saving estate tax is not the focus for even most wealthy people. Income tax planning is now a critical component of estate planning and you need the right professional guidance to take advantage of these opportunities. Everyone may benefit.
  - Capital gains costs to your heirs may outweigh state estate tax costs so maximizing “basis step-up” (adjusting “cost” to fair value on death) may be more important than estate tax savings.
  - Do your LLCs and partnerships permit you to obtain a basis step up by making a 754 election?
  - Do your irrevocable trusts have swap powers?
  - Partnerships and irrevocable trusts can be used to shift income to lower bracket taxpayers (e.g., adult children not subject to the Kiddie Tax).

Introduction to the 14 Steps of Estate and Financial Planning

- Every person is unique – it has to be your plan and address your goals.
- Reflect your personal wishes and circumstances.
- Create a strong financial foundation, an integrated plan, and documents to build upon.

Step 1: Organize Emergency, Financial, and Advisors Information

- Contact People (names, numbers)
- Financial Information (account information)
- Passwords and Security Codes.
- Documents (Estate planning documents, legal documents, and more)
- Budget and Financial Plan
- Tax Basis Information

Investment and Financial Information is Critical to Organize and Communicate

- Title to Accounts

- Your name alone
- Revocable trust.
- Joint
- Other (POD, TOD, etc.)

- Account Management

- Duplicate statements
- Consolidation and simplification
- Asset location decisions
- Access to safe deposit box

- Beneficiary designations

- Update for new laws (e.g. remove bypass trusts).
- For your assets.
- Should trusts be named?
- Of others that benefit client living with chronic illness.

- Automation

- Organizing records
- On line payments
- Automatic deposits
- Paperless

Step 2: Designate a Person to Handle Financial and Legal Issues

Power of Attorney

- Agent (Successors)
- Compensation
- Begin date (Trigger)
- Powers (Authority)
- Durability (Disability)

Powers of Attorney Decisions

- Who should be named agent? What if you don't have reliable people? Worse, what if you think you have reliable people but you don't?
- Gift powers have been standard. Should they be? Might it be safer, to prevent elder financial abuse, to prohibit gifts?
- More complex tax powers for the wealthy and even others:
  - What about gifts of remaining gift tax exemption?
  - The right to continue your pattern of charitable giving?
- Consider practical steps to make the power of attorney effective.
  - Just having a document is not enough to protect you.
  - Consolidate and simplify financial holdings.
  - Organize and automate records.
  - Bills and deposits on automatic.

Step 3: Designate a Person to Make Health Care Decisions and Access Medical Records

Health Care Proxy Medical Power of Attorney

- Agent (successors)
- Powers (religion)
- Signature (State law)
- Move (state; facility)
- HIPAA Release

Step 4: Other Health Care Documents

Prepare a Living Will

Health Care Document Considerations

- HIPAA Release (Health Insurance Portability Accountability Act) – authorizes someone to access medical records and speak with physicians.
- Living Wills – Statement of health care wishes.
  - Address end of life decision making, funeral/burial
  - Organ donations
  - Nutrition and hydration
  - Specify religious considerations
- POLST (Physician Order Life Sustaining Treatment) – permitted in more than 40 states. A statement in your patient chart prepared by your physician to govern end of life decisions.

Step 5: Planning For Minor Children

- Disclose a child's care information
- Plan for medical emergencies
- 529 plans
- Trust for child in your will

Planning For Children

- How do you define “children” in your legal documents? Does that include those you want, but exclude those you don’t want provided for? Consider adopted children, out of wedlock, reproductive technologies, etc.
- Should you take special precautions in your planning for a special needs child? Be certain planning for a special child contemplates your disability, the child’s unique circumstances, and potential changes.
- How do you plan for boomerang children (adult children who move back home)? Do you permit their support? How much? What about other children?
- How do you factor in current or future assistance for children (even adult children) into your financial plan?
- Do you have adequate life and disability insurance to protect your children?

Planning For Children

- Why ever set up a child or grandchild's trust? Does it ever make sense? In many cases a trust for your spouse/partner and all children and descendants may be more advantageous. Why leave out your spouse? What if you need access to the money?
- Modern trust drafting:
  - Create a dynastic trust to benefit spouse and all descendants. Why not provide benefits with tax and asset protection advantages?
  - Broad class of beneficiaries to maximize income tax shifting?
  - Creative use of general powers of appointment to maximize basis step-up.
  - Powers of appointment, decanting provisions, trust protectors, and more techniques to add flexibility.
  - New positions/roles: trust protectors, loan directors, administrative trustees, etc.
  - Eliminate all taxes legally for generations (even perpetually) with a life insurance dynasty trust

Step 6: Sign a Will

A legal document to designate where your assets should be distributed in the event of death

Wills – Not The Only Document to Consider

- Most people focus on the contents of their wills. While this is appropriate for many people, consider that many (even most) assets might pass outside of their will. This could result from:
  - Beneficiary designations (e.g., for IRAs, 401(k) and life insurance)
  - How accounts are owned (titled) (e.g., a bank account that is Pay On Death to a child, joint accounts, etc.)
  - Legal documents (e.g., a deed that has your house owned jointly with a spouse or an heir)
- Coordinate all of these different “transfers” to be sure your intent is realized. This is just one critical example why merely buying a will or other document online will not address your real planning needs. You need a more comprehensive approach.
- Few consumers understand the implications of title and beneficiary designations and too often neglect the importance of their other planning. Ideally, all of this should be confirmed and coordinated with your financial adviser/investment firms.

Wills – If Your Wealth Increases or Circumstances are Complex?

- Consider using a revocable trust as your primary document.
- Do not rely automatically on testamentary dispositions under your will. Consider instead making gifts or even creating more robust lifetime trusts in a trust friendly jurisdiction like Delaware.
- Bypass trusts – Consider new powers to distribute capital gains as part of trust accounting income, powers of appointment to cause estate tax inclusion, naming broader class of beneficiaries to shift income to lower brackets, and more.
- QTIP Trusts – plan for 2519 disclaimer, or even a so-called “Clayton QTIP” rather than disclaimer, for more flexibility and perhaps tax benefits.
- Investment allocation permitted to consider overall family investment allocation and tax status of each trust to maximize tax and other benefits.

Step 7: Create a Revocable Living Trust

- Establish a personalized living trust.
- Transfer assets to a trust during your lifetime.
- Manage assets as you age or during disability or illness.
- It should be about much more than avoiding probate.

Step 8: Be Sure Your Insurance Coverage is in Order

- Property and casualty insurance
- Liability insurance
- Long term care coverage
- Disability income replacement
- Life insurance
- Health Ins.

Life Insurance

- Do you have a reasonable amount of life insurance to cover your real needs? Too much insurance diverts money that you could add to savings. Too little may leave your loved ones in financial hardship.
- Your circumstances and needs change over time. Review existing policies and coverages with an insurance expert. Do they still meet your current needs? Can you change them to better serve your goals?
- Consider using permanent life insurance as an asset class – part of your investment strategy + tax benefits.
- For example, indexed universal life insurance (IUL) for tax-free retirement income, living benefits and death benefit, while avoiding market risk
- Long Term Care (LTC) insurance: a dedicated LTC policy or “living benefits” of a life insurance policy

Irrevocable Life Insurance Trust

- Life insurance on your life (or on the life of a younger relative) could be part of a plan to protect assets for your family.
- Irrevocable Life Insurance Trust (ILIT):
  - Life insurance owned by an ILIT provides tax-free growth and tax-free generational wealth transfer, forever
  - Instead of a simple ILIT, use a more robust trust that accomplishes multiple goals, a Multi-purpose Irrevocable Life Insurance Trust (MILIT).
  - Simplified Crummey powers.
  - Hold other assets in the same trust. Income from those assets can be used to pay insurance premiums.
  - Asset protection when it is really needed.
- Review and repurpose existing policies and ILITs.

Step 9: Beneficiary Designations

- Standard provisions are not always adequate.
- Coordinate with Revocable Trust.
- What powers should agent have?
- Give copies to your advisers.
- Update when banks merge.
- Revise when tax laws change.
- Should you ever name bypass trust.
- 5-10 year payout may become law.

Step 10: Matrimonial Planning

- Protect heirs against divorce with trusts instead of outright gifts or bequests.
- Create or review prenuptial agreements.

Step 11: Business Planning

- Proper entities to minimize liability exposure of personal assets
- Business formalities
- Succession planning
- Integrate planning for your business into your estate plan

Step 12: Give Back

- Demonstrate important values to heirs.
- Thank those who have helped.
- Inspire others to give.

Charitable Giving Should be About More than Taxes

- Giving back, by volunteering, donating things you don't need, writing a check, or using more sophisticated techniques.
- Permit trustees and agents to make contributions to teach values to heirs.
- Harvesting gains and losses each year to minimize the amount taxable.
- 2 Generation CRUT for IRA.
- Why ever make a bequest under your will to charity? It might be a good way to demonstrate values for your heirs, but giving while you are alive might generate a better tax break.

Step 13: Communicate

- Educate and inform your fiduciaries (agents, trustees).
- Preparation of Beneficiaries.
- Advisory team must cooperate.

Having a real conversation is one of the most important steps you can take

Communication

- Family, loved ones, people you named to fiduciary positions – all need to be informed of your plan and understand its relevance to them.
- A team approach is more vital than ever before – especially for those advancing in years or facing a health challenge.
- If you cannot afford a meeting with a CPA, attorney, investment adviser and insurance consultant, you can achieve similar results in an affordable manner.
- Integrated planning is the only approach to succeed.
- Every adviser brings something to the table.
- Everyone at every wealth level needs checks and balances. Use advisers, family members, etc.
- Planning is more complex than ever before, so efficient planning team operation is vital.
- Broaden the concept of who should be part of your team.

Step 14: Review, Revisit, Revise

- Nothing remains static
  - Tax and property laws
  - Family situations
  - Assets and net worth
  - Health
  - Feelings

Annual Reviews with your Team are Vital

- All insurance must be reviewed and managed.
- If you have a bad egg as an agent or adviser, it is the regular interaction of your team that will help identify it.
- Coordinating the complex interplay of income and estate taxes, asset protection, and other goals will never work without regular checkups – this is important especially for those with lesser wealth since a loss will have a relatively greater adverse impact.
- You change oil every 5,000 miles and go to your doctor for an annual physical. It is best to meet your advisers once a year, too.
- Web meetings and other technology can make it quite cost effective.

Make an Action Plan

And Get Started

Action Steps

- If you have not met with your CPA to discuss anything other than a tax return in the last year, call him/her now.
- If your life insurance has not been reviewed in two years, call your insurance agent.
- Do you know what your beneficiary designations say? Do you have current copies?
- If you have not updated all of your estate planning documents in the past two years, you are overdue for a review.
- Have you reviewed all existing/old entities and trusts?
- Have you considered practical steps to make your documents function?
